Tribute from Josie Galligani

It is with a heavy heart that I heard of Savio's passing. He was a great friend and an even better "#2" son. I have known and worked with Savio for many years and have always had the greatest love and respect for him. He was always ready to share his joy and wit with you. His smile was ever present and he would never let you see how downtrodden he felt during his many years of illness. He had such a positive spirit; even as he battled hard through his disease. I remember talking with him and praying for his Easter Miracle. The miracle come far too late, and at a cruel time. At least now he is in the loving arms of Jesus, as well as, in his father's company. Savio's family was the most important thing in his life. The only time that I ever knew of Savio's sorrow was on the death of his father. I realize that my condolences and thoughts will never lessen the grief felt by Savio's Mother and Sister, but just know that he was loved and respected by many of us who were friends and worked with him. May God grant you solace and comfort during your times of sorrow, and know that there are other who realize just how special Savio was. We will miss him, and I for one feel I have been Blessed and horoured to have known him. Rest now "my #2", and keep an eye on me until we meet again.
